SCG INTERNATIONAL HIRES MICHAEL MCGUIRE AS DIRECTOR OF SPECIAL PROJECTS

Retired Navy Commander and SEAL joins security services company

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA, Mar. 26, 2009 – SCG International, a U.S.-based global provider of fully integrated, domestic and international security, logistics and training services, today announced it has hired Michael McGuire as its Director of Special Projects.

McGuire will be responsible for identifying upcoming opportunities within SCG core competencies; serve as the primary interface between SCG International and all federal, state and local government clients generated by contract awards; help establish the management infrastructure as SCG is awarded service and training contracts; and support the proposal development process.

McGuire retired as a Commander from the U.S. Navy in 2005 after more than 28 years of distinguished service in Naval Special Warfare. His final tour of duty was as Director of the Joint Operations Department on the faculty of Joint Special Operations University. His operational experience includes combat and contingencies in Operations Enduring Freedom, Desert Storm, Southern Watch, Deny Flight, Sharp Guard and Restore Hope. He was the Joint Operations Center (JOC) Chief for Joint Task Force-510, and Pacific Security Assessment Team (PSAT) Commander at the U.S. Embassy in the Philippines during the American hostage crisis, and in India during the Indo-Pakistan crisis of 2002.

Prior to joining SCG International, McGuire was Chief Operations Officer for Linxx Security, where he oversaw several major training programs and a variety of service contracts. He was also Program Manager for Applied Marine Technologies, Inc. (AMTI) at the Center for Anti-Terrorism and Navy Security Forces, where he managed the standardization of curriculum, training delivery and instructor qualification for the Visit Board Search and Seizure program.

“Michael combines a distinguished military career with a highly successful background in the private sector. As Director of Special Projects, Mike will ensure SCG continues to provide the high-quality, agile and responsive service our clients have come to expect from us,” said Jamie Smith, CEO of SCG International. “He has proven himself a leader who can quickly produce outstanding results under challenging circumstances, and we are extremely pleased to have him as part of the SCG team.”
